Elaborately embellished in the 14th century and surrounded by lush green trees, it was described by Moorish poets as “a pearl set in emeralds.” See the exotic mosaics, fountains, latticed windows, arabesques and ornamented courtyards that made this vast stronghold worthy of royal occupancy. Visit the Moorish Alcázar and the grave of Christopher Columbus, inside Seville’s Cathedral. And imagine the spectacle of a traditional Spanish bullfight at the Plaza de Toros, celebrated for its Baroque architecture and historical significance.
